Failure of a single piece of on-site equipment can cause drilling to come to an abrupt and costly halt.

Manually tracking these assets could be a daunting task. With thousands of parts to keep track of and a limited number of man-hours to do it all, mistakes can happen. And those mistakes can lead to big losses!

RFID system can essentially automate oil field asset tracking, lifecycle management, streamline workflows and part identification. And when field-proven RFID technology is utilized, it can stand up to the rigors of even the most remote and challenging drilling sites with less down time.

When Assets are affixed with RFID tags, pieces of equipment can be instantly identified, and key data can be accessed on the spot which results in a number of benefits, including:

Quick, easy, clean and detailed item identification

Significant reductions in lost and misplaced equipment

Easier tracking of usage cycles and routine maintenance

Earlier indication that new parts need to be ordered

Countless hours of time saved tracking down specific pieces

MATRIX RFID is Efficient & Robust Asset Tracking Solutions for the Oil & Gas Industry and can create a significant ROI when correctly engineered and installed.
